Important Notes:

1. This form needs to be printed on the letterhead of the bidder and a scanned copy should be sent to the email ID laffmd@rbi.org.in within the auction window time. The forms received after closure of the auction window will not be considered. No requests for extension of auction window would be entertained.
2. The email subject line should be - "Bid for FX Swap Auction- Bank Name".
3. Banks bidding in the auction may kindly share their Standard Settlement Instructions (form enclosed) to RBI back office (Ph:022-22611069; <mailto:deiosettlements@rbi.org.in>) at least three days in advance. Interested counterparties should also initiate Relationship Management Application (RMA) exchange with RBI.
4. The bank will have to confirm details of the bids submitted (only total no of bids and aggregate USD amount) through Reuter FXT platform (RBI Code: RBFM) before 11.30 AM on the auction date.
5. The deals with the successful bidder will be executed on Reuters FXT platform on the same day. RBI will allow banks to book two separate deals (one for ALM book and one for trading book). In case of multiple bids being placed for a book, the deal will be done at the weighted average premium (rounded off to two decimals) of the accepted bids.
